ART EXPERIENCE

Present - 1995 Interdisciplinary Artist

Chicago, IL

Artist Statement

My works focus on the formation of cultural identity and how a society draws conclusions from shared experiences. My intent is to understand the mechanics of cultural identity, highlight problems that evolve from its formation, and stimulate a debate on how to better manage these problems.

I investigate this formation through a variety of topics. One of the topics is the relationship between weapons and cultural identity, focusing on nuclear proliferation and its place in American culture. Another area focuses on environmental pollution with the intent to reveal how the identity of many cultures are under threat from contemporary consumption habits and short-sighted approaches to economics. I also produce works that study the role of governmental, religious, and social institutions in the formation of cultural identity and the degenerative transformation these institutions have undertaken in a post 9/11 world. Lately, I have turned my focus on investigating the relationship between place, the sense of belonging, and personal stories, and how they contribute to the ever-shifting ideas of identity, and culture.

As an interdisciplinary artist I use, but do not limit myself to, installation, performance, movement, digital photography, video art, sound art, paper arts, book arts, ceramic, fiber arts, text, sculpture, and augmented reality.

I have worked, lived and exhibited in Ankara (Turkey), Istanbul (Turkey), Paris (France), and Chicago, IL. among other places. I currently live and work in Chicago, IL.
